Museumstraße 7, Festsaal, 1070 Vienna, Austria

In June 1974, the rich life of Albert A. Ehrenzweig had come to an end. He was an Austrian legal scholar, who had to immigrate to the United States of America in 1938, where he became one of the best-known legal scholars in the field of private international law.

The Interdisciplinary Association of Comparative and Private International Law, in cooperation with the University of Vienna, the University of California Berkeley, the Revue critique de droit international privé, and the Austrian Ministry of Justice, will host a conference to honour Albert Armin Ehrenzweig and his extraordinary jurisprudential legacy, which will be revisited from today's perspective.
